JOINT TWIN STRIKES GOING ON TO FIN- ISH, IS DISCUSSED

Cabinet and Pres. Harding Take up Dual Strikes and, Peace Overtures Having Failed, Wonder if Country Can Stand it to See Finish Fight

Pres. Harding Now Has No Immediate Plans for Settling Either Rail or Coal Strike, And Test of Strength May be Allowed to Go on Longer

By United Press

Washington, Aug. 3.—Whether the administration, its peace overtures having failed, shall pursue a "hands off" policy so long as the public interest is not seriously menaced, and permit the joint twin strikes to be fought out to a finish, was discussed today by President Harding with members of his cabinet.

Harding now has no immediate plans for settling either the railroad or coal strikes, and the test of strength may be allowed to go on for a while longer. The railroad executives want to fight their own battle, believing they can crush the shopmen's unions and bring the men to terms. The bulk of coal operators feel the same way, and there is a feeling among some of Harding's advisors to let the disputants fight it out.

Other advisors, however, fear the consequence of such a policy for the following reasons:

That the country is already suffering and each day that the strikes continue conditions will become just that much worse.

That if the shop crafts unions show signs of giving way under pressure from the executives, the bulk of railroad brotherhoods and perhaps other sections of organized labor will call a sympathetic strike paralyzing the entire country.

Color was given this latter view by a labor official high in the councils of the American Federation of Labor who stated with emphasis:

"The shopmen will not lose their fight and you can make up your mind to that. Right now there are things in the air that would raise the hair right off your head if you knew about them."

The federal government, one high official said, is now at the point where it lacks power to force an end of the strike unless it resorts to the extreme steps of seizing the mines and railroads, a move that is contemplated only as a last resort.

Eastern Roads Drive to Break Strike

New York, Aug. 3.—Drive by eastern roads to break the shopmen's strike, following rejection of President Harding's peace plan netted carriers gains in their shop crafts forces today.

A rush of new men for jobs was reported by roads, and admitted by union officials. Many strikers entered shops as new men, E. M. Rine, general manager of the Lackawanna, declared.

Wide Spread Violence

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Wide spread violence broke out today following the failure of President Harding's intervention to bring peace in the railroad shopmen's strike.

An employee of the Illinois Central who refused to strike was beaten to death in Chicago.

Fifteen strikers were under arrest in Jackson, Mich., following a riot in the Michigan Central shops. Carl Spradley was killed and one other injured in an exchange of shots at Van Buren, Ark.

Strike breakers were kidnapped in a raid on the shops at Des Moines.

Men, women and children stormed the home of a car foreman at Lincoln, Neb. Serious outbreaks were reported in other shop centers.

Strikers in Peaceful Demonstration

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 3.—Central striking railroad shopmen today marched to police headquarters asking release of one of their number who was arrested charged with defying the police. The demonstration was peaceable and after leaders of the strikers had conferred with Chief of Police Allison, the arrested man was released.

I. C. Employee Beaten to Death

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Robert Johnson, Illinois Central employee, was beaten to death here today by four unidentified men.

Johnson was on his way to work when the four men approached him. Persons driving by saw the men knock Johnson down, and beat him. When police arrived Johnson was dead.

Johnson was employed in the Burnside shops, and refused to go out on strike, police said.

POSSE SEEKING MAN WHO KILLED MILL CITY TAXI DRIVER

PASSENGER, BELIEVED TO BE CHARLES BAINS, SHOT AND KILLED HARRY HOFFMAN

ARGUMENT AROSE OVER PAYMENT OF FARE WHEN AUTO ARRIVED AT RED WING

(By United Press)
Red Wing, Aug. 3.—A posse early today was seeking a man seen at Wacouta and believed to have shot and killed Harry Hoffman, Minneapolis taxi-driver here shortly after midnight.

Police are certain the man wanted is Charles Bains, 35, who escaped from the Ramsey county jail, St. Paul last night after he and Harold Watson, a negro, locked Jailer John Brady in their cell.

Hoffman was called to the general hospital in Minneapolis last night by a man who said he had just been released by the hospital after being treated for a broken leg. He said he wanted to be driven to Red Wing.

Hoffman took a friend, Lloyd Best, another Minneapolis taxi driver, on the trip.

Arriving in Red Wing the passenger suggested they go to a restaurant and have something to eat. After eating the man said he was going down the street to see a friend. Hoffman thought the passenger was trying to escape payment of his fare and said he would drive him down.

The passenger stopped the car on the main street and got out. Hoffman followed, but Best remained in the car. They had walked only a short distance when an argument over the fare started. The passenger pulled a revolver and shot Hoffman. Then he ran.

Best and some bystanders carried Hoffman into the offices of Drs. Cramer and Clayton where Hoffman died a few minutes later.

Early today a man believed to be Charles Bains was seen in Wacouta. He held a newspaper in front of his face. Police are certain the man is Bains, and that Bains is the man who shot and killed Hoffman. A posse was immediately organized and is searching for him.

MORAL BLOWOUT SURE FOR ANY MAN VIEWING FLAPPER, SAYS SUNDAY

Hood River, Ore., Aug. 3.—A flapper's clothes, said the Rev. W. A. (Billy) Sunday in his annual 'at home' sermon preached Sunday in Hood River, would be insufficient for making the tail of a kite.

"No man," declared Mr. Sunday, "can look upon such a sight without a moral blowout."

Mr. Sunday, who has a ranch near here, customarily preaches "for the home folks" once a year. Riverside church overflowed, many motor tourists from other states attending the services.

CANADIAN NURSE HAS 500,000 PATIENTS

(By United Press)
Constantinople (By Mail).—A nurse with half a million patients a year to care for sounds like an impossible job, but it is one that a Canadian girl, Miss Emma Wood, of Sarnia, Ont., has been filling for the past two years.

Miss Wood does not personally administer to the needs of all these patients, but they are none the less her patients. She is the director of nursing for the Near East Relief. She superintends the work of fifty American and Canadian nurses and about 1,000 native nurses' aides. The half-million patients represent the number of war famine sufferers in Turkey, Palestine and Armenia, who have received medical attention from the American and Canadian relief funds during the past year.

SENATE TO VOTE ON TARIFF BILL AUG. 17

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 3.—The senate will vote on the tariff bill August 17 under a compromise agreement between republican and democratic leaders, to be presented for ratification to the whole senate today.

Speedy acceptance of this is assured. This will bring to an end in two weeks a debate lasting since April 20, and marked at all times by unusual bitterness.

The August 17 vote, however, will not see the tariff bill safely past the shoals of rocks, for the conference between the two houses over amendments made by the senate admittedly means trouble for the bill.

Vote Investigated

Washington, Aug. 3.—Exhaustive investigation of the votes of all senators on all returns in the McCumber tariff bill will be demanded in a resolution to be introduced in the senate today or tomorrow, Senator Gooding, of Indiana, told the United Press today.

Gooding's resolution, prompted by charges that personal financial interests influenced the vote of some senators, will demand a more sweeping probe than the resolution recently offered by Senator Caraway, of Arkansas.

SWEEPING SCOPE OF GASOLINE PROBE— PRICE STILL HIGH

SIX PHASES OF PRESENT SITUATION EXAMINED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

ONE IS IF COAL SHORTAGE HAS CAUSED NEW DEMAND FOR OIL AS FUEL

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 3.—The sweeping scope of the gasoline price investigation by the special committee of the senate was revealed today by Senator McNary of Oregon, acting chairman, as he announced hearings would be started Monday.

Six phases of the present situation in which the company has a record breaking reserve of gasoline with sky high prices will be investigated. According to McNary these are:

1. Whether there exists unfair competition of the monopoly in the industry.
2. Whether the fluctuations in exports and imports have had a material effect on domestic prices.
3. Whether increased transportation costs including installation of many pipe lines have caused the recent sky rocketing.
4. The present supply of gasoline and crude oil and the daily production of gasoline.
5. The present rate of consumption which producers claim has increased enormously during the past few weeks.
6. Whether the shortage of coal due to the nation wide mine strike has been creating new demands for fuel, and aided in the price boosting.

FRESH MOVE MADE FOR PEACE IN THE ANTHRACITE FIELD

HARD COAL OPERATORS AND UNION PRESIDENTS TO MEET ON WEDNESDAY

EXPECT SETTLEMENT OF DIFFERENCES—EVENTS IN RAIL STRIKE AT STANDSTILL

(By United Press)
A fresh move to make peace in the anthracite fields was announced today by John L. Lewis, miner's chief. Hard coal operators and union presidents probably will meet Wednesday and settlement of differences is expected.

Events in the rail walk out were at a standstill. Strike leaders at Chicago have accepted President Harding's proposals, and looked to Washington for a new move. Carriers executives turned their backs on the White House and pushed steps to break the strike.

Washington dispatches indicated the administration will make no other effort to intervene in the rail strike at the present time.

Peace Up to Operators

Philadelphia, Aug. 3.—Anthracite peace was put up to the operators today.

John L. Lewis, miner's chief, announced he and his union presidents were ready to meet hard coal owners at any time in a wage conference.

Anthracite operators were invited to set a date for a conference on wages.

State Troops in Indiana

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 3.—Striking coal miners watched sullenly today as state troops guarded Indiana's effort to produce coal under martial law.

The miners were surprised at the secret entrance of the soldiers. They were silently resentful of the guns and field equipment glistening in the sun.

Strike leaders declared that none of the miners would respond to Governor McCray's call for volunteers to operate the two strip mines of the Rowland Poower Company seized by the state.

NATIONAL CONVENTION WILL BE MARKED BY GALA DAY IN MINNEAPOLIS AUG. 9

Minneapolis, Aug. 3.—Standing committees of the Fraternal Order of Eagles convened at the Saint Paul hotel, St. Paul, to make preliminary arrangements for the national convention of the order, beginning Aug. 7, which will be marked by a gala day in Minneapolis, Aug. 9.

A huge barbecue at Minnehaha park attended by 5,000 delegates and local members of the Eagles, street dancing near the Institute of Arts, a sight seeing tour around the city, are on the Minneapolis program, which is being arranged by Thomas Patrick Gleason, Minneapolis detective, a former national officer.

National officers of the Eagles, together with the committee on membership, began to gather early today with the arrival of John Morin of Pittsburgh, grand worthy president of the order. He was accompanied by a party of 30 officials. Victor Pierrille of Ashland, Wis., legal adviser of the national organization, and Elbert D. Weed of Oshkosh, Wis., past grand worthy president and president of the board of trustees, also were among the early arrivals.

N. D. DECLARES WAR ON ACTIVITIES OF I. W. W.

Bismarck, Aug. 3.—States' attorneys and sheriffs in North Dakota are called upon by Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson, in a circular letter sent to them, to protect harvest workers against I. W. W. organizers, who already are active in the state, according to reports reaching his department.

"The right to work as well as the right to organize is a constitutional right and should be protected," says the attorney general. "You may count on the fullest co-operation from this office."

Investigation of all complaints of unlawful activities of the I. W. W. will be investigated, and wherever evidence warrants arrests will be made, Mr. Johnson said.

First reports of the activities of I. W. W. were from Cass county, where, it is said, a man who refused to sign a red card was forced to jump from a moving train.

POLICE BELIEVE THAT TWO MEN CAPTURED AT SAUK CENTRE LAST NIGHT GUILTY

THAT PAIR ARE CONNECTED WITH THE MURDER OF MARSHAL GEORGE WILLIAMS

(By United Press)
Sauk Center, Aug. 3.—A bloody canvas glove and some bullets today satisfied police that two men captured near here last night and connected with the murder of Marshal George Williams at Long Prairie last Saturday. Blood soaked overalls were found near where the men were taken, and added further evidence.

The men, who gave their names as "Big Joe," Hughes and Bernie McTigue were taken to the jail at Long Prairie at noon today after spending the night in jail here.

Hughes, who claimed to be a striking shopman from St. Cloud, had suffered a bullet wound in his right side about two inches long, which he claimed was inflicted in a drunken brawl. The stories of the two men did not jibe authorities stated, and inquiries proved that Hughes had never been employed in the shops at St. Cloud. McTigue is said to have a work house record in Minneapolis, according to Detective Charles Brown.

The canvas glove found with the ammunition in the woods near where the two men were captured, was a mate to a glove found in the car which the bandits abandoned near Long Prairie when they shot and killed Marshal Williams.

The bullets found were 38 caliber Winchester special, one of which instantly killed Marshal Williams. Police said they were not confused, and believe they have sufficient evidence against the men.

Two Charged with Murder

Long Prairie, Aug. 3.—"Big Joe" Hughes and Bernie McTigue, caught by national guardsmen near Sauk Center late yesterday, will be formally charged with the murder of Marshal George Williams this afternoon. Todd county authorities said today. They probably will be arraigned tomorrow.

Two Held for Murder

Sauk Center, Minn., Aug. 3.—Two men, one of them with a bullet wound in his back, were surrounded by national guardsmen in the woods yesterday east of here, and are held in connection with the murder of Marshal George Williams of Long Prairie.

FRENCH EXPECT TO SEIZE COAL, IRON MINES RUHR BASIN

INDUSTRIES IN HANDS OF STINNES, TYSSSEN, KRUPP, OPERATED BY FRENCH

UNTIL ALL OBLIGATIONS ARE MET BY TEUTON NATION SAID PREMIER POINCARÉ

(By United Press)
Paris, Aug. 3.—France plans to invade Germany and seize and operate the coal and iron mines in the Ruhr basin if the Berlin government refuses to pay war debts and private claims.

Industries now in the hands of Stinnes, Tyssen and Krupp, all multi-millionaires, will be operated by France until all obligations are met, the French press outlining Premier Poincaré's plan of coercion announced today.

According to the premier, a Rhineland customs barrier against Germany will be set up and German officials replaced by Rhinelanders.

The Rhineland commission in event the plan is carried out, would call for an election which would give the territory autonomy.

A One-Man Strike

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 3.—A long freight train was held up from 8 a. m. to 8:15 p. m. here because of a one-man strike. When the shopmen walked out, there were no railway workers here connected with the union save one whose job was that of coupler on the Atlantic Coast Line yard. When this individual put on his coat and the strike here was declared "100 per cent effective," trainmen and others failed to perform the coupler's duties. They said they had no right to couple up the cars. The trainmaster finally substituted for him.

MINNESOTA CITIES HARD HIT BY THE COAL FAMINE NOW

ST. PAUL'S GAS SUPPLY IS ASSURED ONLY UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1

ROCHESTER WILL BE OUT OF LIGHT AND WATER AFTER AUGUST 15

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 3.—The coal shortage in Minnesota brought urgent appeals from many cities today.

St. Paul's gas supply is assured only until September 1.

Rochester, with the famous Mayo hospitals, will be out of light and water after August 15th unless relief is given.

Scores of other cities and villages reported to Ivan Bowen, fuel administrator, that the situation is serious. Until the coal strike is settled there is little possibility that any large coal shipments can come into the northwest.

Charges of profiteering in coal and coke came from several cities which reported. At Worthington the light water and power plant which serves a dozen southwestern Minnesota communities, will be forced to close down soon unless coal supplies are received.

Other cities reporting serious shortages were Glencoe, Canton, Brewster, Round Lake, Luverne, Wilmar, Morris, Dexter, New Munich, Freeport, Sherbourne, Moorhead, Ortonville, Rush City, Moose Lake, Mahtowa, Staples and Chaska.

Flour mills in Canton and creameries at Goodhue are facing a shut down, it was reported. In many communities threshing is being held up because of coal shortage.

Paris, Aug. 3.—France plans to invade Germany and seize and operate the coal and iron mines in the Ruhr basin if the Berlin government refuses to pay war debts and private claims.

Industries now in the hands of Stinnes, Tyssen and Krupp, all multi-millionaires, will be operated by France until all obligations are met, the French press outlining Premier Poincaré's plan of coercion announced today.

According to the premier, a Rhineland customs barrier against Germany will be set up and German officials replaced by Rhinelanders.

The Rhineland commission in event the plan is carried out, would call for an election which would give the territory autonomy.

A One-Man Strike

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 3.—A long freight train was held up from 8 a. m. to 8:18 p. m. here because of a one-man strike. When the shopmen walked out, there were no railway workers here connected with the union save one whose job was that of coupler on the Atlantic Coast Line yard. When this individual put on his coat and the strike here was declared "100 per cent effective," trainmen and others failed to perform the coupler's duties. They said they had no right to couple up the cars. The trainmaster finally substituted for him.

MINNESOTA CITIES HARD HIT BY THE COAL FAMINE NOW

ST. PAUL'S GAS SUPPLY IS ASSURED ONLY UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1

ROCHESTER WILL BE OUT OF LIGHT AND WATER AFTER AUGUST 15

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, Aug. 3.—The coal shortage in Minnesota brought urgent appeals from many cities today.

St. Paul's gas supply is assured only until September 1.

Rochester, with the famous Mayo hospitals, will be out of light and water after August 15th unless relief is given.

Scores of other cities and villages reported to Ivan Bowen, fuel administrator, that the situation is serious. Until the coal strike is settled there is little possibility that any large coal shipments can come into the northwest.

Charges of profiteering in coal and coke came from several cities which reported. At Worthington the light water and power plant which serves a dozen southwestern Minnesota communities, will be forced to close down soon unless coal supplies are received.

Other cities reporting serious shortages were Glencoe, Canton, Brewster, Round Lake, Luverne, Wilmar, Morris, Dexter, New Munich, Freeport, Sherbourne, Moorhead, Ortonville, Rush City, Moose Lake, Mahtowa, Staples and Chaska.

Flour mills in Canton and creameries at Goodhue are facing a shut down, it was reported. In many communities threshing is being held up because of coal shortage.

MISKE GETTING READY

Wading Into His Sparring Partners Every Afternoon at Rose Room Gym

A great deal of interest is being shown at the Rose Room gym, where Billy Miske is wading into his sparring partners every afternoon at 3 o'clock. Along with his daily boxing Miske is getting himself in good shape with his road work at his camp at Lake Johanna, while the Elongated Plasterer is boxing daily at Haskells gym in Minneapolis and doing his road work at Mound on Lake Minnetonka.

Both boxers fully realize that a clean cut victory or a kayo at Lexington Park on Aug. 11th means an immediate bout with Jack Dempsey. At the present time Dempsey is in real need of opponents. It is a well known fact that Dempsey committed himself not long ago in Chicago that he was broke.

From all indications the demand for tickets is greater than any other boxing show ever held in this state and Matchmaker Reddy predicts the receipts at $50,000. The largest boxing show up to date was the Gibbons-O'Dowd show in St. Paul in 1919 when the receipts were $40,000 and if Reddy's predictions are right the Miske-Fulton show will exceed this show by $10,000 or more.

All those who desire to go, but have no way of getting there, will please be at the church, at six, as the committee has promised transportation for all who are at the church at that time. Each one will please bring their own plate, cup, fork and spoon.

LITTLE FALLS SUCCESSFUL

Selected as 1923 Convention City of Sixth District American Legion

Little Falls was selected as the 1923 convention city of the Sixth District American Legion organization at the meeting held at St. Cloud Monday night.

E. V. Wetzel was elected vice-commander of the district including Crow Wing, Aitkin and Morrison counties. B. H. Saunders of Wadena was elected commander for the district.

Dr. H. L. Lamb was elected Morrison county chairman to succeed Dell Batters.

The district convention went on record as favoring St. Cloud as the feasible site for the disabled veterans' hospital. This action was taken says the Little Falls Daily Transcript, to counteract the statement credited to State Commander A. A. Van Dyke in which he gave six reasons why St. Cloud was not the proper place. The purpose of the district convention's action was to show that there is no organized opposition in the Legion to St. Cloud as the site for the $1,500,000 hospital.

Other officers elected in whom local people are interested are: Harrison B. Sherwood of Long Prairie, one of the vice commanders, and Rev. Fred Errington of Brainerd, chaplain.

Sunday was given over to reception of delegates and an important meeting of the executive committee.

The question of beer and light wines came up for its share of discussion, and after considerable debate pro and con was voted down.

Dr. Hallenbeck of Crosby offered a substitute project in place the memorial hospital planned for Rochester. The doctor advocated a $500,000 endowment fund, the revenue from which would take care of cases all over Minnesota, and not only the men who would go to Rochester. Harrison Fuller, first state commander, took part in the discussion which followed. Dr. Hallenbeck's plan met with the general approval of the convention and the 6th district delegates to the state convention to be held in Virginia this month were instructed to support the proposition as their first choice and the memorial hospital planned for Rochester as second choice.

St. Cloud did herself proud in entertaining her Legion guests. The St. Cloud Automobile club showed the delegates all points of interest, including the site of the million dollar veterans hospital to be built on the banks of the Sauk river. The delegates were guests of the Kiwanis club at the Monday noon luncheon and were entertained at a banquet in the evening at the Grand Central hotel, some 300 being in attendance.

Delegates to the National Convention to be held in New Orleans in October are Milton Mahlum of Brainerd, P. M. Weyrens of St. Cloud and J. H. Steadman of Wadena. The Mardi Gras, a winter festival annually held in New Orleans, will be held in October at the same time the Legion is in progress.

Little Falls was selected as the next meeting place of the 6th district convention in 1923.

LITTLE FALLS SUCCESSFUL

Selected as 1923 Convention City of Sixth District American Legion

Little Falls was selected as the 1923 convention city of the Sixth District American Legion organization at the meeting held at St. Cloud Monday night.

E. V. Wetzel was elected vice-commander of the district including Crow Wing, Aitkin and Morrison counties. B. H. Saunders of Wadena was elected commander for the district.

Dr. H. L. Lamb was elected Morrison county chairman to succeed Dell Batters.

The district convention went on record as favoring St. Cloud as the feasible site for the disabled veterans' hospital. This action was taken says the Little Falls Daily Transcript, to counteract the statement credited to State Commander A. A. Van Dyke in which he gave six reasons why St. Cloud was not the proper place. The purpose of the district convention's action was to show that there is no organized opposition in the Legion to St. Cloud as the site for the $1,500,000 hospital.

Other officers elected in whom local people are interested are: Harrison B. Sherwood of Long Prairie, one of the vice commanders, and Rev. Fred Errington of Brainerd, chaplain.

Sunday was given over to reception of delegates and an important meeting of the executive committee.

The question of beer and light wines came up for its share of discussion, and after considerable debate pro and con was voted down.

Dr. Hallenbeck of Crosby offered a substitute project in place of the memorial hospital planned for Rochester. The doctor advocated a $500,000 endowment fund, the revenue from which would take care of cases all over Minnesota, and not only the men who would go to Rochester. Harrison Fuller, first state commander, took part in the discussion which followed. Dr. Hallenbeck's plan met with the general approval of the convention and the 6th district delegates to the state convention to be held in Virginia this month were instructed to support the proposition as their first choice and the memorial hospital planned for Rochester as second choice.

St. Cloud did herself proud in entertaining her Legion guests. The St. Cloud Automobile club showed the delegates all points of interest, including the site of the million dollar veterans hospital to be built on the banks of the Sauk river. The delegates were guests of the Kiwanis club at the Monday noon luncheon and were entertained at a banquet in the evening at the Grand Central hotel, some 300 being in attendance. Delegates to the National Convention to be held in New Orleans in October are Milton Mahlum of Brainerd, P. M. Weyrens of St. Cloud and J. H. Steadman of Wadena. The Mardi Gras, a winter festival annually held in New Orleans, will be held in October at the same time the Legion is in progress.

Little Falls was selected as the next meeting place of the 6th district convention in 1923.

Canadian Authorities Forbid Further Potlatches.

Indians of the Pacific Coast Resort to Courts in Effort to Retain Ancient Rights.

One of the most unusual legal battles in Canadian history has just been staged on the Pacific coast of British Columbia, where some forty of the Kwakiutl tribe have been convicted of holding a "potlatch," and some of them sentenced to two months' imprisonment. Among those convicted was a squaw, the first in the history of British Columbia.

The potlatch is one of the outstanding events of life among the Indians of the Pacific coast, according to Francis Dickie in Popular Mechanics Magazine, but very little has been written of it, and this mostly without understanding of the deep social significance of the feast, dancing, ceremonies and gift-giving which are a part of the event called potlatch.

The government's placing restraining laws against the holding of potlatches was on the ground that Indians on these occasions impoverished themselves by giving away all their earthly possessions, often the savings of years; for when an Indian gave a potlatch, he did give away everything he owned to members of his tribe whom he had invited. In some cases, where a very great chief gave a potlatch, people of other tribes, often hundreds of miles away, were invited. In the years before the white man came, such feasts lasted from ten days to a month.

But though the government was partly right in its claim, the potlatch presents a paradoxical situation, for in giving away all he possessed an Indian was at the same time acquiring a vested interest—the potlatch was nothing less than a life-insurance premium, old-age pension and endowment fund all rolled into one. In fact, the Indians had in operation a mutual-benefit system long before the white man.

After the coming of the white man, the potlatches changed considerably. Instead of furs, the Indians began giving blankets, flour, guns and ammunition bought from the Hudson's Bay company. As time went on they took full advantage of the wonders of the white man, so in recent years potlatches have presented one of the most incongruous sights perhaps the world has ever seen. There came into existence sewing-machine and furniture and gramophone potlatches; potlatches of cooking utensils and clothing; boots and clothes; frequently furs and some other articles. But the chief potlatches in recent times have been gramophone, furniture and utensils. The writer has been fortunate in obtaining the most recent photos of what may be perhaps the last potlatches ever held. These photos also show the march of the wild men to the great ceremonial hall.

Should the potlatches be stopped forever it is hard to foretell what will be the effect on the Indians. It is a fact that quite aside from the vested interest acquired by giving a potlatch, the giving of such gave the giver immense prestige. It was the highest peak of social ambition for a coast Indian, striving for as eagerly as a nouveau riche trying to break into New York's "four hundred." Looked at from this point of view, the taking away of it may rob the Indians of initiative and ambition to earn money to hold one—another paradox in view of the government passing a prohibitive law because the potlatch impoverished the giver.

Unhappy French Colony.

"Since the doctor came here we have seen the most wonderful things happen. First of all he kills the sick people; then he cures them, and after that he wakes them up again." So a native girl wrote of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, author of "On the Edge of the Primeval Forest," who went out in 1913 to the Ogowe lowlands of the French colony of Gaboon, there to maintain for four and a half years a surgical and medical clinic for the negroes, says the Detroit News.

"Our country devours its own children," was the sage remark of an old chief. A vicious climate, a plentiful lack of proper food, overindulgence in rum and strong tobacco were killing off the natives rapidly when Doctor Schweitzer arrived. One of the worst problems was chronic nicotine poisoning, producing acute constipation and nervous disturbances. The tobacco comes from America in the form of leaves, frightfully strong, and is so highly prized by the natives that it is used as money—a single leaf buying two fine pineapples.

Misdirected Talent.

"I will now read to the gentlemen of the jury a few of the defendant's impassioned letters," remarked the lawyer for the fair plaintiff. The defendant groaned aloud. "Did I hear a noise in court?" asked the judge.

"You did, your honor," said the unhappy defendant. "Little did I dream when I won prizes in school for writing the best compositions that it would ever lead me to this!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

JOYFUL SCENES THAT OFFEND EXCLUSIVE NAHUNT

Photo shows a bunch of kiddies having a really good time on the lawn of the Mike Di Carlos home at Nahunt, a suburb of Lynn, Mass. Di Carlos was accused by some of his more exclusive neighbors of keeping a disorderly house, largely because of the fact that he permitted, and invited, the youngsters to romp about his grounds and generally enjoy themselves. The exclusive neighbors brought the case to court, but Di Carlos was the victor.

BUSH SHAMES BULLETS

Yankee Pitcher's Speed is Of Dazzling Order

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The planet Mars, with a tankful of gas, plenty of oil and a new set of tires is approaching the earth at something like two million miles a minute, and when Joe Bush untangles his half Nelson from the old pill, it hops over home plate at approximately the same rate of speed.

Whether "Bullet" Joe has any upshots, drops or curves of the in and out variety is hard to say. Watching the ball after Bush starts it going is like learning to speak Russian in one night.

Whenever a batter slaps one of his dazzers for a couple of sacks, it's a safe bet that he closed his eyes and let the Goddess of Fortune do the swinging.

Bush recently pitched seven winning games in a row, which started Jake Schaefer wondering if he really had a corner on the ball running business.

But the man we really feel sorry for, the man in whose behalf we drag out the gayly bordered handkerchief and weep a couple of sobs, is the man behind home plate who catches the "Bullet."

The National Reform league should take a day off from the bathing beach and the art institute and build a concrete wall around the catcher in the name of humanity. The left hands of the backstops who catch Joe are spreading out and taking on the appearance of Mr. Swift's premier breakfast food and soulmate of the well known egg.

"Bullet" Joe Bush was born in Minnesota, but tired of the east and went to Montana, where he started his baseball career in Missoula in 1912. His winning over half of the fifty-four games he pitched attracted Connie Mack's attention, and he took Joe on.

In 1917 Mack made a trade with the Red Sox in which Bush was included.

In December of last year Bush, Sam Jones and Everett Scott were traded to the Yankees for Peckinpah, Quinn, Piercy and Collins.

The cognomen "Bullet" hardly seems fair to Joe, for he makes any bullet look like a slow freight alongside one of his speed balls.

NEW RECTOR FOR ST. PAUL'S

Successful Philadelphia Clergyman Strongly Recommended by Bishop Bennett

Since Rev. H. J. Wolner resigned to accept a call to Cloquet, in June, 1921, St. Paul's Episcopal church has been without a rector. As it was expected that the old church would be torn down soon and a new church built, nothing was done toward securing a rector and regular services in the church were discontinued. It is now proposed, however, to hold regular services in the new basement, as soon as it is completed this fall, until the main building is put up later. The contract for building the basement has been let and work will commence as soon as the old church building is dismantled.

Since this has been definitely decided upon, the church people are beginning to think of calling a rector. Bishop Bennett, while in the city recently, stated that he could secure for Brainerd a minister who has now the largest Episcopal church in the city of Philadelphia, whom he recommended as wonderfully successful in his work, having built up a church there to 2,700 communicants. This clergyman wishes a change to the bracing climate of Minnesota because of his health. The Bishop declares that it is an opportunity that the vestry of St. Paul's church should not fail to take advantage of, and it is probable that the matter will be brought before that body for consideration in the near future. There is certainly an excellent field for a live, working minister in St. Paul's parish and the city of Brainerd.

Bestial Murders Appear In Germany Since The War

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Berlin is suffering this season with a series of bestial murders, such as it has never witnessed before the war.

While the ordinary crime of house-breaking, pocket picking, embezzlement and that like still flourishes, the population is in a state of horrible excitement over a series of crimes, the nature of which scarcely bear repeating.

One of these, the murder of little Dorothea Schmidt, by a maniac, is still unclear to the police, though they believe they know the man. The little girl was lured into a cellar, brutally assaulted and then stabbed to death. She came running upstairs to her parents with blood flowing from several wounds and told them what had happened; then died. In the meantime the maniac had escaped.

Men who follow children and attack them are quite numerous.

Still another case now on trial is that of the murderer, Carl Grossmann, who enticed women of the street to his dwelling, attacked them and then hacked their bodies to pieces.

This particular kind of murder is known to the police as a "passion murder," and there appears no way of putting an end to these terrible crimes.

Meantime a band of robbers is doing a flourishing business breaking into villas, into unoccupied flats and even into homes where folks are living.

The "murder police" here are among the most expert in the world and generally run down persons who commit murder. They are not so successful, however, with the ordinary criminal. In this work he has the co-operation of a veritable army of street women, who select rich victims turn them over to the hold-up man and allow them to be cleaned out.

The work of the police is really quite commendable, but their force since the war is not large enough to cope with the numerous cases which come to their attention.

ILLINOIS EXPERIMENTS TO AID MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—Results of experiments on the so-called Bates road in Illinois to furnish information as to the best types of surfacing for permanent roads will be turned to advantage in Minnesota's new highway program.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, so stated today after a recent inspection in company with John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer, of the Bates road which is claiming the close attention of highway officials throughout the United States.

The Bates road was created by Clifford Older, chief engineer of the Illinois highway department. It contains 63 types of surfacing, including every kind known to road builders, and from these it is expected the best type eventually will be selected.

Daily tests are now being made and reported. As the road is worn out, one section after another, by the heavy traffic strain, the relative merit of each type of surfacing is quite definitely demonstrated, and highway builders will know just what may be expected of each. Illinois is spending $100,000,000 for roads and the expense of the experiment is held justified by that state aside from the benefits Minnesota and other states will gain.

Engineer Mullen said that while the Minnesota department is greatly interested in the Bates road it is not expecting results to materially change the specifications or plans by this state. The statement, he said, was based upon general observations in other states, notably eastern states where permanent surfacing of lighter types than are being built in Minnesota are proving entirely adequate to traffic demands.

Sow Thistle Causes Losses

Fargo, Aug. 3.—Losses to North Dakota farmers annually from the sow thistle run into several millions of dollars. Scores of thousands of acres in the northeastern counties of the state are practically smothered by this pest.

These are some of the startling claims made by Sidney W. Hooper, publicity man for the extension department of the Agricultural college, in a warning which he is broadcasting throughout the state, seeking to rouse farmers to the necessity of organized efficient opposition to the weed, the evil of which is greater than the combined effects of rust, hail, grasshoppers, draught and low prices.

To encourage farmers in what may seem a hopeless fight, Hooper pointed out instances in which farmers in this state have taken this sow thistle infested and abandoned land and after getting it under control raised profitable crops.

The weed was imported into southern Manitoba in 1887 by the Mennonites who unwittingly brought it with their seed grain from Russia. From thence it has spread into North Dakota and Minnesota, thriving best in the valley sections.

North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba have laws requiring destruction of the thistle.

Bush recently pitched seven winning games in a row, which started Jake Schaefer wondering if he really had a corner on the ball running business.

But the man we really feel sorry for, the man in whose behalf we drag out the gayly bordered handkerchief and weep a couple of sobs, is the man behind home plate who catches the "Bullet." The National Reform league should take a day off from the bathing beach and the art institute and build a concrete wall around the catcher in the name of humanity. The left hands of the backstops who catch Joe are spreading out and taking on the appearance of Mr. Swift's premier breakfast food and soulmate of the well known egg.

"Bullet" Joe Bush was born in Minnesota, but tired of the east and went to Montana, where he started his baseball career in Missoula in 1912. His winning over half of the fifty-four games he pitched attracted Connie Mack's attention, and he took Joe on.

In 1917 Mack made a trade with the Red Sox in which Bush was included.

In December of last year Bush, Sam Jones and Everett Scott were traded to the Yankees for Peckinpah, Quinn, Piercy and Collins.

The cognomen "Bullet" hardly seems fair to Joe, for he makes any bullet look like a slow freight alongside one of his speed balls.

NEW RECTOR FOR ST. PAUL'S

Successful Philadelphia Clergyman Strongly Recommended by Bishop Bennett

Since Rev. H. J. Wolner resigned to accept a call to Cloquet, in June, 1921, St. Paul's Episcopal church has been without a rector. As it was expected that the old church would be torn down soon and a new church built, nothing was done toward securing a rector and regular services in the church were discontinued. It is now proposed, however, to hold regular services in the new basement, as soon as it is completed this fall, until the main building is put up later. The contract for building the basement has been let and work will commence as soon as the old church building is dismantled.

Since this has been definitely decided upon, the church people are beginning to think of calling a rector. Bishop Bennett, while in the city recently, stated that he could secure for Brainerd a minister who has now the largest Episcopal church in the city of Philadelphia, whom he recommended as wonderfully successful in his work, having built up a church there to 2,700 communicants. This clergyman wishes a change to the bracing climate of Minnesota because of his health. The Bishop declares that it is an opportunity that the vestry of St. Paul's church should not fail to take advantage of, and it is probable that the matter will be brought before that body for consideration in the near future. There is certainly an excellent field for a live, working minister in St. Paul's parish and the city of Brainerd.

Bestial Murders Appear In Germany Since The War

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Berlin is suffering this season with a series of bestial murders, such as it has never witnessed before the war.

While the ordinary crime of house-breaking, pocket picking, embezzlement and that like still flourishes, the population is in a state of horrible excitement over a series of crimes, the nature of which scarcely bear repeating.

One of these, the murder of little Dorothea Schmidt, by a maniac, is still unclear by the police, though they believe they know the man. The little girl was lured into a cellar, brutally assaulted and then stabbed to death. She came running upstairs to her parents with blood flowing from several wounds and told them what had happened; then died. In the meantime the maniac had escaped.

Men who follow children and attack them are quite numerous. Still another case now on trial is that of the murderer, Carl Grossmann, who enticed women of the street to his dwelling, attacked them and then hacked their bodies to pieces.

This particular kind of murder is known to the police as a "passion murder," and there appears no way of putting an end to these terrible crimes. Meantime a band of robbers is doing a flourishing business breaking into villas, into unoccupied flats and even into homes where folks are living.

The "murder police" here are among the most expert in the world and generally run down persons who commit murder. They are not so successful, however, with the ordinary criminal. In this work he has the co-operation of a veritable army of street women, who select rich victims turn them over to the hold-up man and allow them to be cleaned out.

The work of the police is really quite commendable, but their force since the war is not large enough to cope with the numerous cases which come to their attention.

ILLINOIS EXPERIMENTS TO AID MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—Results of experiments on the so-called Bates road in Illinois to furnish information as to the best types of surfacing for permanent roads will be turned to advantage in Minnesota's new highway program.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, so stated today after a recent inspection in company with John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer, of the Bates road which is claiming the close attention of highway officials throughout the United States.

The Bates road was created by Clifford Older, chief engineer of the Illinois highway department. It contains 63 types of surfacing, including every kind known to road builders, and from these it is expected the best type eventually will be selected.

Daily tests are now being made and reported. As the road is worn out, one section after another, by the heavy traffic strain, the relative merit of each type of surfacing is quite definitely demonstrated, and highway builders will know just what may be expected of each. Illinois is spending $100,000,000 for roads and the expense of the experiment is held justified by that state aside from the benefits Minnesota and other states will gain.

Engineer Mullen said that while the Minnesota department is greatly interested in the Bates road it is not expecting results to materially change the specifications or plans for this state. The statement, he said, was based upon general observations in other states, notably eastern states where permanent surfacing of lighter types than are being built in Minnesota are proving entirely adequate to traffic demands.

Sow Thistle Causes Losses

Fargo, Aug. 3.—Losses to North Dakota farmers annually from the sow thistle run into several millions of dollars. Scores of thousands of acres in the northeastern counties of the state are practically smothered by this pest.

These are some of the startling claims made by Sidney W. Hooper, publicity man for the extension department of the Agricultural college, in a warning which he is broadcasting throughout the state, seeking to rouse farmers to the necessity of organized efficient opposition to the weed, the evil of which is greater than the combined effects of rust, hail, grasshoppers, draught and low prices.

To encourage farmers in what may seem a hopeless fight, Hooper pointed out instances in which farmers in this state have taken this sow thistle infested and abandoned land and after getting it under control raised profitable crops.

The weed was imported into southern Manitoba in 1887 by the Mennonites who unwittingly brought it with their seed grain from Russia. From thence it has spread into North Dakota and Minnesota, thriving best in the valley sections.

North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba have laws requiring destruction of the thistle.

LEGISLATION

THERE is a prevalent tendency to seek to correct whatever seems to be wrong in America by means of new legislation. This has manifested itself, in all probability, because of the wave of repression and suppression which passed over the land during and immediately following the World War. In those years there was a unified enthusiasm for the common cause, and the majority felt justified in assuming that anything that did not promote the end of winning the war, should be crushed by the will be the majority, who were intent upon securing the most effective use of the resources of the nation in the common enterprise. And America did splendidly in bringing about such a will to conquer that opposing voices were quickly silenced while the country brought its vast power to bear upon the enemy and by its timely use ended the conflict.

Those were the days when propaganda was used, and used effectively and, the knowledge of the effectiveness of this instrument for securing unified action, has led to the conviction that propaganda, effectively used, will cure all the annoying and disastrous disorders of society. But disorders are not cured by affirming that they ought to be cured, and they are not healed by repression.

This attitude to life which is to prevalent today has resulted in three outcroppings of the demand that wrongs be righted by legislation. War is wrong; it is said there is no justification for it in an age of advanced intelligence, and other means must be found by which international disputes may be adjusted. Strikes are wrong; they tie up industry, inflict injury on the public at large, bring losses to both employers and to workers, and reflect discredit on the nation, which fails to find some other and better way of securing even justice. Therefore strikes must be outlawed.

And in a southern state legislation has been sought to prohibit the teaching of evolution in the schools because, so the proponents of the measure argued, the teaching of evolution has a detrimental effect upon the character and morals of those who are taught this theory of creation.

But while it may be possible to suppress wrongs by legislation it is not possible to crush truth by legal enactments. And, further, legislation is ineffective unless the moral convictions of the people are behind the laws.

Just at this point the great American, Theodore Roosevelt, had a message which ought to be read and re-read by the American public. His practical wisdom led to his announcing that treaties and compacts are valueless unless behind them stands the conscience of the nation. He pointed out that at the time when Germany sent her troops over the border into Belgium, she was bound by certain treaties which prohibited the crossing of that border for military purposes. But Germany was not deterred by "a scrap of paper." Mr. Roosevelt made a great contribution to the thought of his day by his insistence that treaties and laws are not worth the paper upon which they are written unless the people stand pledged to make them effective. And such a pledge is not in the written word but in the spirit and purpose of the people.

Propaganda, no matter how well prepared; treaties, even those based on humanitarian grounds; anti-strike laws, though they have for their purpose the preventing of national disaster, will not secure their end until the affairs of nations with other nations and of employers and employed are founded on equity. Causes underlie all effects, and when the causes are removed the effects will go. Not so much in the repression of wrong as in the expression of right lies the hope of the world order. Where there is a will for peace there will be peace, and arbitration of disputes, whether national or industrial, is conditioned on that will to peace. Humanity needs intensive convictions more than it needs extensive legislation.

NORTHWESTERN OPTIMISM

NEVER was an announcement more opportune than that of E. G. Quamme, president of the St. Paul Federal Land bank, who states that the value of the farm products of the northwest this year will total more than one billion dollars.

The effect of this enormous yield can hardly be estimated. Buying will be stimulated, the farmer will be enabled to take those steps in improving his equipment, which he has contemplated during the past two or three years, but has been prevented from undertaking by the conditions of the market, which resulted in deflation.

But this rosy prospect can only be realized if the world market is able to buy the produce. On this important matter there are other pleasing prospects. Adjustments in Europe have proceeded to such an extent that the nations will be in a position to purchase what they require of this yield.

Thus the re-adjustment of the world market will have an inestimable bearing upon northwest conditions. Not only will the farmer reap his just reward, but his reward will be higher than in several years because the costs of producing the bumper crop have been lowered. The releasing of the purchase price of the vast harvest will stimulate industry and the northwest will rejoice once more in a prosperity in which all share.

That's where they have roads, and all over the state, not just in spots."—Ortonville Journal.

Then I crossed the Mississippi and was inspired by the beautiful scenery and the difference in the highways. At Winona I struck Truck No. 7 and touring became restful instead of tiresome, a pleasure instead of drudgery and full of praise for ad builders instead of damnation. RIO DE JANEIRO IS DIAMOND MAD

(By United Press)
Rio de Janeiro (By Mail).—Probably more diamonds are perambulating about the streets of Rio de Janeiro every night than in any other city in the world.

The city's jewelry stores literally look like ice factories. Its women are so heavily adorned in the glittering stones that fashion dictators will soon have to discover a few more places to wear them or the painted ladies, in particular, will have accumulated so many armlets and necklaces that decolette gowns will cease to be decolette.

The average demimonde looks as though she might retire in ease and comfort and live off the sale of her jewels for the rest of her days. With several luxuriously upholstered bosom friends she comes into the night club or cabaret, settles herself at one of the front tables, orders a whisky and soda and languidly tosses back her long black cloak, revealing beneath it the entire contents of a safety deposit vault.

She is clad in the very simplest gown of black velvet, so simple that it spells a heavy initial investment with the Paris designers. Like the velvet lined cases in which the jeweler displays his wares, it forms an effective background for the young fortune she has adorned herself with.

The finest and most delicate bracelets of matched stones run in solid files up her arms almost to the elbows. Scarcely a finger is minus a ring with a stone. Diamond pendants dangle from her ears, a jeweled hair ornament peers from beneath her hat brim and several lavaliers and plain diamond necklaces adorn her throat. A great diamond brooch clings to the front of her gown. Brilliants glitter on her slipper buckles.

Diamonds are given preference above all other ornaments in Brazil and the explanation is to be found in the state of Minas Geraes, where these sparkling pebbles are picked from stream beds.

Almost everyone who lives in Rio de Janeiro a short period has his mind sooner or later focused upon a glittering stone. The victim eventually succumbs and invests, figuring that he might find the gem handy when the "right girl" comes along. Two weeks later he has ceased to wait for the "right girl" and is gloating to his friends over the excellent job the jeweler did in setting it in a man's ring.

And, as for the painted ladies, they have been so generously remembered in the matter of first water pebbles and still have plenty of cash left over to invest in imported gowns, that the average good sport rather prides himself on being able to promenade with his richly garbed companion of the stilly hours.

SAYS VICE IS VIRTUE IN EXCESS

London, Aug. 3. (United Press).—Criminals are bad because they are too virtuous to be good, according to the theory of Dr. Bernard Hollander, famous mental specialist and psychoanalyst.

"Vice is frequently only virtue in excess," Dr. Hollander said, in a lecture at the Society of Arts and Sciences, "as when prudence is turned into cowardice, courage into rashness, economy into avarice, liberality into prodigality, liberty into license, and constantly into obstinacy."

"Most crime is due to the failure of inhibitory control. It is a familiar fact that people of otherwise irreproachable honesty will swindle the tax collector or a railway company, steal an umbrella or some other small article with untroubled equanimity. If they are taxed with the incongruity between their principles and their conduct, a varied crop of reasoned excuses will be immediately produced."

"Mankind's follies and crimes are mainly due to the uncontrolled operations of the instinctive nature of man."

The World Is Working For You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you.

Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

SAYS VICE IS VIRTUE IN EXCESS

London, Aug. 3. (United Press).—Criminals are bad because they are too virtuous to be good, according to the theory of Dr. Bernard Hollander, famous mental specialist and psychoanalyst.

"Vice is frequently only virtue in excess," Dr. Hollander said, in a lecture at the Society of Arts and Sciences, "as when prudence is turned into cowardice, courage into rashness, economy into avarice, liberality into prodigality, liberty into license, and constantly into obstinacy."

"Most crime is due to the failure of inhibitory control. It is a familiar fact that people of otherwise irreproachable honesty will swindle the tax collector or a railway company, steal an umbrella or some other small article with untroubled equanimity. If they are taxed with the incongruity between their principles and their conduct, a varied crop of reasoned excuses will be immediately produced."

"Mankind's follies and crimes are mainly due to the uncontrolled operations of the instinctive nature of man."

The World Is Working For You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you.

Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

Reading Advertisements is both interesting and Profitable

On this arrangements committee are Col. C. D. Johnson, C. E. Peabody and Clyde E. Parker. Col. C. D. Johnson and Mr. Peabody are former Mankato residents and so will act as guides for the rest of the Brainerd Elks.

At this eighteenth annual convention of the State Elks Association there will be two days of profit and pleasure including band contests, drum corps contests, baseball games, athletic contests, barbecue, parade, dancing etc. There will be every thing that will make up a gigantic time.

"Your stay will be made the even of your life" says the Mankato committee. There will be free automobile rides for all visiting Elks.

Mrs. Gartner was a devoted wife and mother, and a woman with a high religious character, a member of the German Evangelical church on East Bluff avenue.

D. A. Peterson, received word this morning that his son, Jewett R. was married yesterday in Minneapolis to Miss Kathleen Slipp, daughter of the late Fred Slipp, and a former Brainerd girl, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Peterson had confused his son's wedding date, having understood that the event would take place today, so missed being in attendance.

The newlyweds will spend the balance honeymooning in Yellowstone Park, and will be at home after September first at 504 North 4th street.

The bride has been employed as cashier in a Minneapolis bond company, and the groom is connected with the American Railway Express Co., in their local office. Both have many friends in Brainerd who will join the Dispatch in offering hearty congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

METHODIST CAMP MEETING

Dr. Copeland Preached Clear and Searching Sermon From 17th Chapter St. John

The interest is increasing with each successive meeting at the Methodist camp meeting. A large number of local people were in attendance last evening.

Dr. Copeland preached a very clear and searching sermon from selected verses from the seventeenth chapter of John dealing with the question of the Savior's supreme desire for the church. In his sermon he showed that Jesus knew that if his church and followers understood and followed him that the rest of the world would be saved through them.

Rev. Dr. MacKee, superintendent of the district was present and led in the opening prayer. At the close of the sermon an invitation was given for those to come to the altar who had a desire for further experience or a deeper work of grace. Quite a number of persons responded and as always Dr. Adams showed himself a master leader in altar work.

An increasing interest is being developed in the morning service for young people conducted by Brother Lichtenberger. Tomorrow will be the last of the morning meetings. Several of the young people are earnestly considering dedicating their lives to the definite Christian work. Great good is resulting from these meetings. They will close Sunday night. You are earnestly invited to attend.

SMALL IRON MINE AT COUNTY FAIR

SILVER CUPS FOR CATTLE

Poultry Exhibit Will be the Best Ever Shown, Largely Because of Increased Interest in Chickens

One of the features of the Crow Wing county fair, held at Pequot Sept. 14-15-16 will be the miniature iron mine, a large working model of one of our Minnesota mines, which was used at the San Francisco exhibition. This will be of interest to all fair visitors, inasmuch as a large majority living in this county have never been in one of our iron mines.

Exhibits will form a goodly portion of the fair's program. Several special silver cups will be awarded for certain breeds of cattle, the Guernsey Breeders Association furnishing one. A cup will be given for the best pure bred dairy calves, also.

The poultry exhibits will be the best ever shown at the Pequot fair, largely because of the increased interest taken in that industry since the poultry institutes held at the Chamber of Commerce last winter.

Mothers, take notice: A complete outfit of baby garments, including knitted baby clothing, white dresses, wraps, etc., will be given away to the mother drawing the lucky number. The Crow Wing county fair takes an interest in the little people as well as in their elders.

The Harrison Shows will take up the main field in front of the grandstand with a number of high class attractions completing a list of attractions more than double those of the previous fairs.

L. O. Kelsen will have charge of the horeshoe tournament, and some new records are expected in barnyard golf. Pitchers should be keeping their arms in shape for the big tournament, as there may be some dark horses entered that will be hard competition.

WHITE LIGHTS AND RING HEROES

BY HENRY FARRELL

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 2.—Joe Lynch, the west side Irish boy of New York, is back on the bantamweight throne and he should remain there just as long as he elects.

In possession of almost a clear field Lynch's reign looks to be limited only by the length of time he can be prevailed upon to say—"No."

If he chooses again to go the ways open for his money in New York he will be a short-lived champion.

Joe was champion once before, but he had so many friends eager to show him a good time that he went along with them and did most of his training in Broadway clothes. He found out the truth of the old, old saying, that it just can't be done.

Lynch has a bigger following than any boxer in New York. The neighborhood boys charter sight-seeing buses, hang Lynch banners on the side and go to his fights en masse. They sit in the bleacher seats and root like college boys.

If he is smart enough to decline invitations to parties, his admirers will not be reduced by one. Benny Leonard and Jack Britton have large followings, but they stick close to home and they have not suffered declining respect or popularity.

After Johnny Buff had the title taken away from him by Lynch, he said he was through with the bantamweight class, but that he would continue working with his American flyweight title.

Buff has stored away about $100,000 and he can earn enough among the fly weights to live comfortably without going down into the sock.

Pete Herman, former champion, is practically through, as he is almost blind in one eye and has passed the peak. Midget Smith, the New Lynch, Frankie Jerome, Abe Goldstein and the other contenders are also out of the reckoning.

Two Westerners are the only ones who look to have a chance against Yorker, is not in the same class with Lynch—Joe Burman and Sammy Mandell, both of Chicago.

Burman is more or less of a veteran in the class and he is well known, but it is only in the last year that Mandell has come forward with a rush.

Western writers have been saying nice things about Mandell for six months but it was only recently, when he whipped Pat Moore, in Memphis, that he sprung up as a real contender.

You can count on your fingers, the boys who have beaten Moore and when Mandell can turn the trick, he must be good.

Charles Ebbets, one of the closest business men in baseball, recently struck upon a novel idea for increasing the price of bleacher seats. The Brooklyn fans have a habit of protesting with bottles and Ebbets said he could keep the "rowdies" out by increasing the price of admission.

It's a sound theory. It he makes the price high enough, the poor fans won't have enough money to purchase something to hurl at the umps.

In practically every other park but Brooklyn, the real fans sit in the bleachers and the "rowdies" have enough to get into the grand stand.

One player, selected at random from each of the major league teams, was asked by the writer this season, what city was regarded by the players as having the fairest fans. Each one replied without hesitation—"New York."

It might be because New York has such a tremendous transient population that each visiting club has its own following in the city. Thousands of former residents of other major league cities make their homes in New York and all of them can't forget their partisan feelings for the old home club. However, the native New Yorker is a very fair rooter and is even more severe on the home club players than on the visitors.

Editorial Note—We were in New York July 14 and 15, and can vouch for the fair attitude of New York fans.

the famous Texas beauty, is seen as the featured player.

One of the thrills is furnished by Miss Hampton's escape from a police patrol, from which she is rescued by a master-crook. In another scene, a lion escapes from a cage in a theatre and bounds upon the occupants of a box. A tenement fire and a shooting fray are other big dramatic moments.

FRENCHMAN CHEERED WILSON; SILENCED

Paris (By Mail).—Three years ago Paris frantically acclaimed Woodrow Wilson. Recently a lone admirer shouted 'Long live Wilson' at a Fourth of July celebration and came near being arrested.

The incident is reported as follows by "Bonsor," an evening newspaper: "While Mr. Peuch (president of the Municipal Council of Paris) was placing a wreath on the tomb of Washington, a man waving a little American flag shouted: 'Long live Wilson! ... Long live Wilson!'"

"The onlookers turned at him in amazement. A policeman stepped up and told him to keep quiet. He complied."

OLD OLD CLOTHES TO AN EMPEROR

(By United Press)

Paris, Aug. 3.—Although the Emperor of Annam is the envy of Paris with his gorgeous robes of embroidered golden yellow and blue, he wants to wear regular pants and coats and vests like ordinary human beings.

As soon as he had a moment to spare from the round of official receptions and dinners the Emperor sent orders to a Paris tailor for an outfit of European style clothes. And there to hangs a tale.

It has leaked out that the Emperor had bought several complete outfits before embarking on his first trip to Europe. Upon arrival in Marseilles it was discovered that some unscrupulous hand had down clothing-dealer had stuck the Emperor with a lot of pre-war styles and a derby of the vintage of 1890. It would never do to have the Emperor appear looking like a vaudeville "hick." So the outfits were hidden away and a new set of 1922 model ordered.

READER TAKES NEWER FORM OF IRON; FEELS YEARS YOUNGER

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astonishing. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two weeks' treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money. Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at Johnson's Pharmacy or any other good drug store. Adv.

AMUSEMENTS

Settings in "Sacred and Profane Love" are Perfect

Acting as a jury of experts, to determine upon the faithfulness of the English stage settings for "Sacred and Profane Love," Elsie Ferguson's new Paramount picture which is being shown at the Lyceum for the last time tonight, Sir Gilbert Parker, Ellen Glyn, Edward Knoblock and W. Somerset Maugham, all authors of novels, pronounced them flawless and a complete refutation of the statement of a London newspaper that American pictures delineating English scenes are a "feast of absurdities." Conrad Nagel, Thomas Holding, Helen Dunbar, Winifred Greenwood, Clarissa Selwyn and Howard Gaye comprise an excellent supporting cast for the interpretation of the great Arnold Bennett stage success.
